Discussion and Possible Action – Review and approval of the August 11, 2022, meeting minutes

Motion by Milanowski, second by Dougherty to approve the August 11, 2022, meeting minutes as presented. Motion passed.

Program Presentation – Accessing Public Assistance Programs, Economic Support Services Manager Jeanine Spuhler

- Calling or stopping into Bayfield County Human Services is a great way to access public assistance. Economic Support staff are also knowledgeable about other programs not offered or administered by Bayfield County and often refer citizens to other resources. Residents can find information by checking the Bayfield County website, Forward Health website, Access website, or picking up or requesting printed materials at DHS. Residents are often referred to Human Services by outside agencies.
- “Guide to Applying” publication for Wisconsin’s health, nutrition, childcare and employment programs was presented. The publication instructs applicants on how to complete the application and the information they will need to apply.
- Information can also be found on the access.wi.gov website. It offers a tool that asks a few questions that will help the applicant determine if they may be eligible prior to completing an application.
- The Wisconsin Home Energy Assistance Program (WHEAP) brochure was presented. WHEAP opened for early applications for the 2022/2023 heating year this week. Applications can be completed via the state website at energybenefit.wi.gov, by calling the state call center to apply on demand, by completing a paper application, or by scheduling an appointment with a Bayfield County Economic Support worker.
- Interim Assistance is available for residents with a pending disability determination with Social Security. The benefit is a very small amount meant to cover some of the basic needs of the individual until a disability determination is made. Interim Assistance was once offered by the state. Currently it is only offered as a local program and is funded by county levy and through repayment agreements. Individuals agree to repay the amount issued once they have a positive disability determination and they receive backpay. The local policies are currently being reviewed; recommendations for revisions will be brought to the DHS Board for approval.
- Irvine was impressed with the wide spectrum of service DHS provides. He was concerned that citizens may not be aware of the services or how to apply.

- Skulan reports dialing 211 in Wisconsin will provide the caller with information and referral resources to social service programs available in their region.
- Dougherty agreed it can be difficult for citizens to locate services. She indicated the “Guide to Applying” is a good tool and she described the experience of an individual who used it. She noted once referred correctly to services, the resident was impressed with the speed and ease of eligibility determination provided by the Northern Income Maintenance Consortium.
- Crandall inquired how benefits are issued. Spuhler explained the way benefits are issued are specific to the program being applied for.

Monthly Section Reports

Support Services – Stephanie Eder

- Completed budget.
- Meet with Becky Luebke and Karli Pierson from Wisconsin Department of Health Services.
- Working on succession planning and cross training support staff.

Behavioral Health & Community Programs – Tom Croteau

- The section is now fully staffed.
- August Gordon joined the CCS team as a part-time intern on September 14, 2022, as she begins her graduate program. Gordon previously worked in Family Services Section. Gordon continues to participate in the Family Services on-call rotation.
- Evan Maki and Jamie Allen, Behavioral Health Coordinators, are becoming familiar with the workflow. They are splitting caseloads and providing redundancy for coverage. Maki and Allen also continue to help Family Services with on-call and access. They then round out their hours providing services to CCS participants. DHS staff collaborate between sections whenever possible to provide continuity of care.
- Croteau reported there has been a slight increase in involuntary and voluntary referrals. Some referrals have resulted in higher levels of care for Mental Health and/or Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse (AODA) services. Information is gathered during and after the initial call or referral. Local providers may be contacted for assessments and/or services. Staff investigate whether the individual has insurance and contacts them to determine coverage. Coordinators then begin looking for placements. Options are analyzed to determine the best fit for the individual and available funding. The budget projections appear to be within budget, but that can change quickly when the treatment is expensive.
- Youth referrals to CCS have increased. The increase is attributed to school starting and Family Services staff who have been making referrals.
- Complicated situations continue to arise. Some are due to the individual having multiple issues, such as mental illness, homelessness, and substance abuse.
- Multiple local behavioral health programs sponsored a community picnic hosted by Voices of Recovery to celebrate recovery month at Prentice Park in Ashland. Over 75 people attended in spite of inclement weather.
- The CCS Coordination Committee has a vacancy for an interested community member. Meetings are held quarterly.
- The board discussed the lack of homeless and warming shelters in Bayfield County.

Family Services – Mary Anich

- Family Services currently has three open vacancies. There is still a lack of qualified applicants.

Due to her previous knowledge and experience, she is already beginning to provide services to children and families.
- Ethan Moore began working as an intern on September 1, 2022. He is working with Hayley Weyers and Kristin Opperman in CLTS to address the backlog of work.
